LANSING TO HAVE NEW WPA PROJECT

VILLAGE HALL WILL BE RECREATION CENTER

By action of the village board at its regular meeting Tuesday night, Lansing is to have a Federal Recreation Project. The new project is to be housed for the present in the village hall and will provide a center where local citizens may enjoy the various indoor sports that are popular for leisure hours.

The project is supposed to get under way this week under the direction of H. C. Sullivan of Burnham who supervises the recreation activities of the WPA in this part of the district. The upstairs room at the village hall is to be used and there will be evenings for the girls and evenings for the boys. Adults will also be included in the program.

This is a similar project to that which has proven so successful in Burnham through the schools, and in Calumet City at the Memorial Park. All activities of the center are under the supervision of qualified persons.

As operated through the Burnham schools the Federal Recreation project has added an extra curricular activity to the regular program of the schools by providing (Continued on Page 7)

LIONS TO MEET STRONG PATTONS TUESDAY NIGHT

The Lansing Lions will open their basketball season, Tuesday evening, December 14, at 8 o'clock in the new Munster Gymnasium. Their opponents will be the Patton's from Burnham, Ill., former Thornton Fractional stars. The Lion lineup for the opening of the game will probably be, Milazzo forward, Brown forward, Jericke center, Brady guard, McCloskey guard. Other players on the team will no doubt get a chance to show their stuff as the game progresses. There are about fifteen boys now active on the team which is being sponsored by the Lansing Lions Club and coached by Don Shelton.

Their Tuesday night opponents, The Patton's, will start the game with the following line-up: J. Petrisika forward, T. Holom forward, W. Gapps center, E. Albinak guard and Art Blacksburn guard.

This match should prove unusually interesting in as much as there will be more than the usual rivalry among the players and the laugh is apt to be on the coach in either instance. It seems that Mr. Shelton coached the boys on the Patton at the very beginning of their basketball career, teaching them many of the plays that have brought them to the top rank in the basketball field. So, Shelton knows that he is up against stiff competition with his new Lions. The Lansing boys have only been practicing for a few weeks and meeting such strong opposition in their first home game will certainly give them a chance to display all their team work as well as personal ability.

Sunday night the Lions are to play a Calumet City Memorial Park team at Burnham at 9 o'clock.

NEW CITIZENS

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kurth announce the birth of a son, Nov. 17. He has been named Ronald Woodson.

HAINES COLLECTS $135,240 SECOND INSTALLMENT TAX

With the closing of the period allotted for payment of the second half of the 1936 taxes in this township, Saturday, Walter Haines the collector said, "We have collected a total of $135,240 on the second half of taxes which were due and it is the best showing we have had in Thornton Township for a number of years; we are very proud of our achievement."

It was also reported that $10,000 was collected on the first half, which was turned directly over to the county treasurer, as Mr. Haines was not in a position to issue receipts on the first half.

Another feature of this collection of taxes was that more individuals paid taxes than ever before as well (Continued on Page 6)

1938 CARNIVAL BIG SUCCESS

GROSS $150 FOR P. T. A. THRU ANNUAL AFFAIR

Success again attended the annual school carnival held by the Parent Teacher association. The 1937 edition of the carnival was held as usual in the Calvin Coolidge school with all of the teachers and students of both schools participating.

Mrs. Leo Barth acted as general chairman of the committee that arranged the affair which grossed approximately $150.

SHOOT OUT STREET LIGHTS WITH BB GUNS

Six street lights went out in the village on the evening of Nov. 27 as the result of activities of BB guns, or rather the activities of small boys using BB guns, according to Ed. Van Laningham who is keeping a weather eye out for the culprits.

The lights were located at Ridge Road and Chicago avenue, Walter and Illinois, Roy between Illinois and Ridge Road, Ada and Illinois, Grant and Illinois and Stewart and Sherman. Their extinction caused some little irritation among folks in the vicinity as well as for the village papas.

Result, there is a war on BB guns, and anyone discovered with one on the village streets will feel the sharp sting of the law.

TWO CHILDREN CHRISTENED SUN.

Two children were christened Sunday in local Lutheran churches, one at Trinity Lutheran in Oak Glen and the other at St. John's church on Wentworth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence DeMik had their infant son christened, John Louis by Rex, Alex Guebert at the English service at Trinity. Standing sponsor for the boy were Miss Elizabeth Kirsch, Robert Turner and Edward Klompfner.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvir Vierk was given the name of James LeRoy by Rev. H. H. A. Harthar at the English service at his church. Sponsors for James were Peter Busch and Mrs. August Schuenke.

November 18-19 brought the first general snow fall in Illinois this year.

25 TON OF HOME GROWN SUGAR DISTRIBUTED THIS WEEK

Twenty-five ton of sugar is being distributed this week to the farmers of this section through the store of Martin Rispens by Jake Sweringa, district manager of the Lake Shore Sugar Co.

The first shipment of the sugar came in Wednesday morning, twelve and one half tons and the second shipment was delivered at Rispens Thursday. All day both days the farmers have been coming to town after their years supply of the native grown sweetness.

In buying their sugar direct from the Lake Shore Sugar company the farmers are really buying back their own crop. That is beets grown here in the fields have been shipped to Michigan, refined into sugar and returned to the grower as a finished product.

Higher Sugar Content
One very significant fact relative to this year's crop of sugar beets as related by Mr. Sweringa was that the sugar content of the beet far exceeds that of last year's crop.

Twenty-seven thousand ton of the beets were shipped to the factory from this district both years, but the sugar output from that 27,000 ton this year exceeds last year's output by 1,000,000 pounds. That is to say the company refined 1,000,000 more pounds of sugar from the 27,000 ton of beets this year than it did from the same quantity last year.

This, Mr. Sweringa accounted for by the fact that early rains this spring allowed the beets to grow early and ripen before harvesting. Last year the beets were still growing at harvest time.

One hundred and thirty-three farmers grew beets in this district this year.

To Show Beet Movies

Motion pictures showing the growth of the beets, harvesting machinery etc., are to be shown by the company in this vicinity on the 16th, 17th and 18th of this month. The showings are to be made on the 16th at Cottage Grave avenue and 14th street in Chicago Heights. On the 17th in the South Holland village hall and on the 18th at the Farm Bureau in Blue Island. All showings will begin at 7:30 p. m.

There is to be no charge and all the farmers are planning on seeing them. Some of the pictures were taken in local fields, several of them being made near the Ford airport in the beet fields of Dick School, John and Peter Eenigenburg.

E. (BIRDIE) KREIGH FOUND DEAD TUES.

Eli (Birdie) Kreigh of Homewood was found dead just off the roadway in a cornfield near Ottawa, Ill., Tuesday afternoon. The body was lying just a few feet from his overturned car. There being no witnesses to the accident little is known as to just what happened.

The body was taken to Streeter, Ill., for burial. The funeral services were held this afternoon from the cemetery chapel at 1 o'clock.

Surviving Mr. Kreigh are his wife, Marcella and four children, Charles, 13, Mary, 12, Ann, 9, and Bobby, 4. The Kreighs were former Lansing residents and have many friends in this vicinity.

Governor Horner claims that Illinois is the best fed state in the union.

8TH DISTRICT LEGION MEETING HERE DECEMBER 2

Comrade "Jack" Poorman of the Chicago Heights Post of the American Legion, a past commander of the Department of Illinois, presented a most interesting note in his speech before the district meeting of the American Legion here last Thursday evening.

Poorman stated that after the national Legion convention in Chicago in 1933 the Legion returned to the state treasurer $50,000. This sum had been appropriated by the state to get the convention site for that year. The return of the money by the Legion set a precedent, and as history held no record of such a move it required an act of the state legislature to make it possible for the state treasurer to accept the check.

The speaker also stated that the Department of Illinois had begun work toward securing the national convention for Chicago again in 1939. The 1938 convention is to be held in Los Angeles, Calif.

The district meeting Thursday evening was held in the Ridge Road Tavern hall with the Edward Schultz Post No. 697 of the American Legion acting as host. Commander Peterson opened the meeting but turned the gavel over to Commander Fred Leach of the 8th District. There were officers and delegates from seventeen posts of the South Side present making one of the largest such gatherings held in the village for a long time.

Some little disappointment was felt by the Legionnaires of Lansing that none of the village fathers were present at the meeting. A special invitation had been extended to all of the village board members to be present and greet the visitors from other communities.

Americanism, child welfare and service were among the topics that received considerable discussion by committee chairmen who devote much time to these points of the Legion activities.

203 LANSING CHILDREN SEE LIVE STOCK SHOW

That Lansing youngsters are glad of an opportunity to visit educational exhibits was demonstrated last Friday when two hundred and three children of the grade schools made the trip into the International Live Stock show.

The trip was planned, and executed by the Recreation project being sponsored by the Calumet Memorial Park System as a part of WPA educational work. Four Safeway buses were used for the trip into the city and five buses for the trip home. The extra bus on the homeward trip was a matter of precaution in view of the inclement weather that developed.

Of the children to enjoy the trip twelve were from Trinity school in Oak Glen, twenty from the Christian school in Munster, forty-five from St. John's Lutheran school and the remaining one hundred twenty-six from the public schools.

This was the second trip planned for Lansing youngsters and supervised by Mr. Gerald Wright, who conducts many of the activities of the Memorial Park project. A former trip took the children to see a big time football game, and other trips planned for the future will include visits to zoos, museums, and like places of interest.

LANSING SEEKS DELEGATION TO ATTEND HEARING

BUS COMPANY TO FURNISH TRANSPORTATION

According to word received here today at noon, the Illinois Commerce Commission will hear the plea of the Safeway Bus company for a permit to operate a bus line through the village of Lansing and the town of Calumet City into the Chicago loop, on December 14, 15, and 16, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Mr. Haslett, representative of the bus company, stated that the Lansing delegation should appear before the commission on Thursday afternoon.

Representatives Wanted

With this information at hand the Lansing folks who have been working toward securing this transportation for the village are now mobilizing a delegation to attend the hearing. At least one hundred persons are wanted. The Safeway Bus company will furnish transportation free of charge on this occasion.

VILLAGE AGREES TO SPONSOR WPA RECREATION

Everything at the village council meeting Tuesday night ran as smoothly as a well oiled clock and the papas were able to return to their families by 10 o'clock. That was the most unusual thing about the meeting, for it is almost always midnight or thereabouts before the administration of village affairs releases the dads on regular meeting night.

WPA Project

To begin, Mr. Gerald Wright appeared with the request that the council sponsor a WPA Recreation project to be housed in the upstairs of the village hall. This project, which Mr. Wright said was in very successful operation throughout the country, would provide a place of recreation for all of the youth of the village as well as the adults. All equipment for games would be supplied by the WPA and all that was required of the trustees was the room, heat and light. The dads said yes. (Continued on Page 3)

C. E. HOLDS FOURTH ANNUAL BANQUET

Members of the Christian Endeavor of the First Reformed church enjoyed their fourth annual banquet on Wednesday evening, December 8. The affair was held in the church basement with Alvin Kooy as toastmaster.

Mr. E. Heerema was the speaker of the evening. His subject was "Christ for the Crisis". The local officials of the society were cleverly introduced, P. Hook as president being depression, A. Kooy as ex-secretary being bank failure, H. Postma, president, calling the congress, J. Dekker, vice-president with a fire side chat, M. Jansen, president and his fishing yacht, and C. Boreman, treasurer, balancing the budget.

Musical variety was added to the program by Mr. and Mrs. R. Vanderbilt singing several duets and Miss Edith Vanderbilt singing solos. Bill Smith led the group in community singing and a thoroughly good time was had by everyone present.

Police Give John Barleycorn a Bad Day

New York police had a Roman holiday when they engaged in the wholesale destruction of bottles, jars, kegs and cans of liquor at the police department warehouse recently. The liquor was seized in raids over a long period. Here you see the fiesta at its height.

WINS RECOGNITION

John Holmes, who started with Swift & Company as a messenger boy 31 years ago and became president of the company recently. He succeeded G. F. Swift, a son of the founder of the business, as executive head of an organization of 60,000 employees engaged in the dressing of live stock and nationwide distribution of meat, poultry, eggs, butter, cheese and by-products. Mr. Swift will continue active participation in the business as vice chairman of the board of directors.

His Honor Weighed in the Balance

While a town crier stands by to announce the result, a police sergeant is shown weighing the new mayor of High Wycombe, England, A. J. Gibbs, in accordance with an ancient custom of the town. This is part of the traditional installation ceremony.

President Gets Red Cross Button

An estimate was submitted by the Lansing Lumber company as to the cost of lumber for a grating over the Imloff tank at the sewage disposal plant. This estimate was $152. The council passed a resolution accepting the bid.

To Widen Ridge Road

A letter from the county superintendent of highways stating that the 1938 program included the widening of Ridge Road from State Line to Maple street was read. The superintendent asked an opinion of the property owners adjoining this stretch of the highway. Mr. Schuringa, village president, said he would see the property owners along that part of the road and report their opinion.

Liquor License

Attorney Lewis came up with the suggestion that the trustees raise the license fee of tavern owners. This fee is now $200 per year. The attorney pointed out that in the old days before prohibition the village received $1,000 for each such license. No action was taken on the suggestion, it being passed over to the license committee for thought.

There intruded a little rag chewing over a catch basin to carry water off Ridge Road just west of Wentworth avenue. It seems that the water has been drained in the past off the street onto the lot where James Molenaar is now erecting a new residence. The building put a stop to the crude drainage and the matter has to be taken care of since the low pavement at that point is flooded every time it rains.

The matter was finally turned over to the sewer committee for investigation.

Ridge Road and Ada street, Thursday noon. The buses will leave at 12:30 noon for Chicago where the hearing is to be held in the Commerce Commission office.

It is understood that at the hearing Lansing and Calumet City will have to prove to the commission the need of the proposed line. It is for this reason that an impressive delegation is needed.

All persons who will give an afternoon in service of their village by attending the hearing are asked to leave their name with William Winterhoff at the Ford Sales room or at the Journal office before next Thursday so that an estimate can be made as to the number of buses that will be needed for the trip.

Route Directly To Loop

The bus line as proposed will be an extension of the Safeway line already in operation through Dolton and Riverdale. The company has promised hourly service into the Chicago loop at a minimum rate.

As now outlined the line would enter Lansing on Torrence avenue through Oak Glen, east on Ridge Road, north on Wentworth through Calumet City and west again on State street to follow its present route from Dolton into Chicago. The terminal in Chicago is downtown on Randolph street, so that there will be no transferring to other buses, or means of transportation.

There is not the least bit of question as to the value of such transportation facilities in the village and it is expected that every public minded citizen will be willing to add weight to the testimony for the line by being present at the hearing.

CHICAGO HEIGHTS GAS SHOW DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

Janet Moore, famous artists' model, is appearing this week at the Public Service Company's Blue Flame exposition at Chicago Heights' Masonic Temple, where she talks on health and beauty. The big gas show which ends Saturday, December 11, is free and the public is invited to attend.

Among the other entertainers at the show are several WLS radio stars including the Hilltoppers, De Zurik sisters, Otto and his novel-odeons, the Kentucky Girls and Curly Hansel. Gas cooking, refrigeration, clothes drying and water heating demonstrations occupy an important part in the Blue Flame program and during intermissions recitals on the new Hammond pipe organ have been popular.

Prizes, souvenirs, hot doughnuts and coffee are other attractions that have helped draw crowds to the hall at 1520 Otto boulevard in Chicago Heights.

BOWLING

By R. O. Hecht

With their eyes on a case of beer that was offered to the highest team series last week, League No. 2 walked off with the beer and League No. 1, the Major League, again bowed to the Minor League! Lansing Pharmacy's team were the lucky recipients of the case of beer. Thanks to Art Vierk, the donor.

Last week's performance of the Major League was as follows: Kraay was obliged to bow to Dockweiler twice. The powerful State Line men took all three from the Lions. Auto Inn stayed in first place by taking two from Mikos while the Federal Men took two away from the Knot-holes.

The boys in the Minor League made things go down the "clean sweep" lane. All but one set out of the four went three straight. Slagers met and took two away from Gids last Monday night. Meeters stayed in second place and took all three from Lansing Motors. Padjens dropped all three to the first place Lansing Pharmacy boys. Lansing Pharmacy held their five game lead over Meeters and have now won 12 games straight. Louis Hair-clippers won all three from Hopman and shot a good team series with a total of 2650. Lansing Pharmacy shot a total of 2616 and have raised their team average per game to 821 pins which is high for both leagues.

Hollywood's newest stars, Robert Taylor and Eleanor Powell, are teamed again in the musical extravaganza, "Broadway Melody of 1938" which is booked at the Parthenon Theatre.

When the two players were teamed for the first time last year in the 1936 "Melody" they were both newcomers to the screen, but each in record time reached stardom.

Both sing and dance as well as act in the new musical which is said to surpass both "Born to Dance" and "The Great Ziegfeld".

"Life Begins In College," Starring The Ritz Brothers, Now Showing at the Paramount Theatre

Bigger and badder, madder and merrier, wilder and wackier than in "Sing Baby Sing", "On The Avenue" and "You Can't Have Everything", those three comedy-mad Ritz Brothers are starred for the first time in "Life Begins In College" now showing at the Paramount Theatre. Featured in the supporting cast are Joan Davis, Tony Martin, Gloria Stuart and Nat Pendleton. "Life Begins In College" contains all the essential elements for a gay, entertaining hit-giddy gags, gorgeous girls and frenzied fun.

Next Sunday the Paramount will present George O'Brien in "Windjammer" a picture containing exciting action, glorious adventure and thrilling romance. And on the stage will be five acts of vaudeville to complete a program of good entertainment for the entire family.

CHAPTER I

Joyce sat on a leather puff beside her small-paned window looking out and down at the turning maple leaves. She was nineteen—tomorrow she would be twenty. Nobody living knew it but herself—nobody. She had lied about her true birthday since she was eight and owing to a single overwhelming catastrophe it had been easy enough to confuse her father. Twelve years—twelve years in Elsinboro, six of them without him, terribly alone with her stepmother. Yes, you could be alone with somebody else—far less lonely than if you were by yourself. She was alive—tremendously alive inside. That was the trouble; it had to stay inside. She palpitated with dreams of what might be—the secret dreams of a young girl who longs to believe in life as something warm, something you can hold in your arms. But when she looked outside herself she stared at a wall.

Elsinboro has its counterpart in Clean or Elmira but not in Wilkes-Barre, Scranton or Pottsville. Forty thousand strong, it has known no overpowering foreign infiltration and presents a cross-section of the American scene, old style, from a miniature Tammany to an elite who read French, talk liberalism and discriminate between one dollar and another. There are plenty of dollars, gathered by adventurous sons from the four corners of the earth, but there were no fabulous fortunes until Bolivar Smith got an idea 15 years ago. Six roughnecks believed in it and became multi-millionaires almost overnight. They took over the section now known as Platinum Hill and built their incongruous chateaux in a huge circle.

But Joyce Sewell was not of them; in fact she had no part or parcel of Elsinboro, new or old. She was pure North Shore, descended from generations of the Sewells who christened more clipper ships when the American merchant marine overtopped the fleets of the world than any other tribe. Her presence in the town was an accident—one of those tragic accidents that leave their mark for the whole of life. The scene—so far away, so long ago—lived in her eyes, shut or open. She would listen too, her ears trembling lest they hear. But memory is silent, part of its terror lies in silence.

No crash of guns reached her now, only the remembered flash. No thud of bullets on stone, wood and flesh, no choking scream—only the indelible, the unforgettable scene. Her mother unpeppably murdered. A pause—the eternal pause that had lasted but a second. Her father snatching her up under one arm, a petaca under the other, to rush along interminable corridors, followed by shots and the derisive jeers of the marauders who believed he could not possibly escape. Stairs—wooden stairs, stone steps, the secret door and the garden, black beneath towering cypress and spreading ash. Hurry! Hurry! The postern, unlocked, then locked. The startled open night, immersion in the icy lake, a digout and finally refuge in a humble penut. No—not finally. Followed days in a pannier on the back of a mule, hours in a crowded train, a week on a refugee ship bound for New Orleans and on that ship Mrs. Irma Thorne, of Elsinboro, New York.

Irma Thorne, then three years a widow, believed it was her mission to do people good whether they liked it or not. She was not a refugee but a returning traveler with a well-filled pocketbook. She had soft to bacco-colored eyes, but there the softness ended; though the truth would have surprised and wounded her, her chin, her stocky body, her will and her conscience were as tough as rawhide. The mere sight of Cutler Sewell's lackluster eyes, gone dead in his head, staring at his little daughter but eternally seeing something else, was a supreme challenge to her peculiar aptitude for service and abnegation. She took charge. She gave Joyce her first bath in ten days and made her a frock out of her own best skirt. She rushed father and daughter to her home in Elsinboro. She was undoubtedly a good woman and by every rule in the copybook Joyce should have loved her. Gently admonished by her father she tried pitifully to do so and failed. It was no use. She was too young to think things out; all she knew was that a barrier of ice stood between her heart and her benefactress.

"Daddy, let's go away."

"We can't, Joyce; not just now. At present I haven't a cent."

"Please, papacito. I don't like her."

"You mustn't say that. She's a good woman—a very good woman."

"I know," quavered Joyce, bewildered by her own detestation but Helm Blackadder was a rock of a man, forty-nine and virile, with bushy brows, steely eyes and crisp gray hair. He was a native son, a product of Elsinboro so interwoven in the town's pattern it had never occurred to him to consider any other place as a base. Yet in his capacity as an excellent engineer and a daring promoter he had wandered in South Africa, combed Korea and lived in Chile with varying degrees of profit. In the intervals he had known Irma Bostwick, Irma Thorne and finally Irma Sewell. Part of him frankly admired part of her; she had a bulldog quality and so had he. Now she had sent for him and as he entered her very comfortable living room he wondered why.

"Well, Irma, what's on your mind?"

"It's Joyce, Helm; but do sit down. Take that big chair. It looks as if it had been made for you."

"What's the matter with Joyce?"

Mrs. Sewell frowned and then substituted a look of patient resignation. "You know all I've done for her. Don't think I mean I begrudge it since it was my duty and there's no greater satisfaction in life than seeing one's duty and doing it. But can you believe in spite of everything she actually dislikes me? She does, though; I think she always has." She waited, but since Blackadder refrained from comment she continued. "But that's not the worst of it; she's harming herself, deliberately destroying her great chance."

"How?" he asked bluntly.

"Oh, all this extra-curriculum studying she's been doing. She's kept up her Spanish so you'd think she could teach it anywhere but now she wants to take a business course."

"Secretarial?"

"No; she doesn't give it any fancy name—just plain stenography and typing."

"What's wrong with that?" demanded Blackadder. "It's the way several of the highest paid women in the world got their start and I can name half a dozen cases where it's been a royal road to marriage. So I don't see how it could hurt Joyce."

"You don't?" said Mrs. Sewell. She edged forward on her chair.

"Listen, Helm; I wouldn't tell this to anybody but you. Howard Sempster, Emil Schaaf and Michael Kirkpatrick have all proposed to her over and over again."

"Half of Platinum Hill!" said Blackadder, scowling. "Well, she's no business woman and never will be."

"Why? Why do you say that?"

"Because if she were she'd marry face to face with a fact. "Oh, please, papacito, please!"

He compromised, yielding to the endearing yet diminutive that had never yet failed her. On the excuse she ought to keep up her Spanish as a possible asset for the future he took her into his study for an hour every afternoon. That hour had been sacred, proof against any form of interruption from the day when a knock on the door had thrown Joyce into a paroxysm of screams followed by prolonged sobbing. Yet she was no cry-baby; that one convulsive protest was her last, but it had been enough. She and her father talked Spanish in peace, not always for the full hour. Sometimes, quite content to be at his side, she watched him write letters—long painstaking letters—always to one of two addresses.

When the answers came he filed them away, ever more and more sadly, in the petaca. It was a funny little trunk covered with rawhide stretched on the frame while still wet. The hair was mostly worn off but there were still arabesques of brass-headed tacks to which he had added a card bearing the following signed inscription: "Upon my death this box and contents become the property of Joyce Sewell, my daughter and sole heir." With each addition to the dossier he weakened, became less the man of property and more the chastened sacrificial goat. The day came when Irma Thorne married what was left of him for appearances' sake and for his and for Joyce's—not for her own. Perhaps he knew the surrender would kill him, but at least his orphaned child would have a roof over her head. She was sixteen when he died.

them all, one after the other, and retire."

"Oh!" gasped Mrs. Sewell, truly shocked.

"Which one of the three do you think she'd find it easiest to fall for and to handle?"

"That's what I wanted to ask you. It's got to be one pretty soon or none."

"Why? What's the hurry?"

"Can't you think it out for yourself? If Platinum Hill goes after a girl with no money it's largely because she isn't a stenographer."

Blackadder's scowl deepened. "I hate to agree with you but I guess you're right. It's a shame one town should be saddled with three of that brand of snob, but if she's so attractive, what about a boy or two of the good old stock? Aren't any of them hanging around?"

"They would if they could afford it, but they know they can't. The nice boys she knows are all in college with years to go before they'll begin looking for a job. They're too young. I have enough income to manage on and wait, but I know Joyce—she won't stay with me much longer and she hasn't a penny."

"What about her father? I remember hearing he owned one of the show places in Mexico. Do you know what that means? A hacienda that doesn't run over 20,000 acres would be at the foot of the class."

"He lost it—everything he had. He wasn't even compensated for the murder of his wife though his lawyer assured him he would be. Cutler used to speak of it as blood money and wouldn't have thought of taking it except for Joyce. And it's she that matters now. She's got to be saved from herself and you must help."

"I? Why me?"

"Because you're real, Helm, and the only man I know well enough to turn to. There's something in her frightens me. Sometimes she's a burning bush and the next instant she's quicksilver. Please, Helm. This child was put in my charge by a direct act of God. Whether she loves me or not it's my duty to guide her life along the lines of common sense. Which do you want her to do—go around looking for a job at $18 a week or be the first to bring a little culture to Platinum Hill? Which gives her the best chance for a full life?"

"A missionary, eh?" said Blackadder, his lips quivering oddly. He lifted his heavy shoulders and let them fall. "Well, Mike oughtn't to be so bad. I remember his father as a ditch-gang foreman with a laugh and plenty of punch besides."

Mrs. Sewell sighed resignedly. "I would have chosen Howard Sempster, but trust a man to pick a man in a good rule though we women seldom follow it. So it's to be Mrs. Michael—not Mike—Kirkpatrick. Anyway it sounds a lot better than Mrs. Schaaf." At that moment there was a sound of somebody entering the hall. "Joyce, is that you?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"She's never once called me mother," whispered Mrs. Sewell to Blackadder, a hurt and bewildered look in her liquid brown eyes. Then she raised her voice. "Come here, dear; we want to talk to you."

Blackadder disliked being rushed and felt he was being drafted without his consent, but immediately Joyce entered he was conscious of an odd reaction as though all his gears had gone suddenly into reverse.

She nodded to him and turned to her stepmother. "Well?"

"Oh, do sit down, Joyce. Can't you sit down and talk reasonably for once in your life?"

Fuel Oil for Use on the Rolling Ships Can Now Be Stored Aboard Large Vessels

Oil has been poured on raging seas to calm turbulent waves which threaten shipwreck. Now comes Edward R. Carroll of Brooklyn, N. Y., with an invention which is intended to do the same thing, but keeps the oil in the ship's tanks, notes a writer in the Kansas City Star.

The invention provides an ingenious control of the swishing of the oil inside the tanks, which counteracts pitching and rolling of the ship. Used on battleships, it would keep the ship steady so that the aim of its guns would not be spoiled.

Carroll's invention, described in a patent (No. 2077143) recently granted to him, is designed for ships with engines that burn oil for fuel, such as Diesel engines. The ships would be provided with a double bottom and wing tanks built in the sides.

In these the oil is stored.

Unlike conventional storage tanks, these tanks and the double bottom are divided up into long cells by iron plate-like partitions. Valves in the partitions can be controlled from a central station. By opening and closing the valves, flow of oil from one cell to the other is controlled.

Whenever the ship begins to roll, the valves distribute the flow of oil so as to act as a counterweight to the roll. Thus, when the ship tips to starboard, all the oil cannot move instantly toward that side. It is held on the portside and helps to right the ship.

Similarly any synchronism between waves and motion of the ship which leads to violent rolling would be broken up. Such synchronism increases the roll to the point where it endangers the ship. It is brought about by the same principle involved in swinging. Just as a slight push at the proper moment sends the person in the swing higher into the air, so waves in synchronism with the roll of the ship, can cause it to roll and pitch more and more steeply.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

GUIDE BOOK to GOOD VALUES

When you plan a trip abroad, you can take a guide book, and figure out exactly where you want to go, how long you can stay, and what it will cost you.

The advertisements in this paper are really a guide book to good values. If you make a habit of reading them carefully, you can plan your shopping trips and save yourself time, energy and money.

STAR DUST Movie • Radio

HALF of Hollywood is diligently searching for giddy comedies, the sort that have made Carole Lombard and Irene Dunne outstanding stars. The rest of the film colony figure that the public is going to be fed up on loony antics soon, and are getting ready to delve into very serious film biographies.

Garbo still wants to do a comedy, but has turned down four stories that the studio has submitted to her. Kay Francis is all set to launch into a laugh epic. Tyrone Power and Loretta Young have started work on "Her Masterpiece," hoping that it will be as entertaining as their current "Second Honeymoon."

In the biographical division, there is the life of Clara Barton in which Irene Dunne will star, the life of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, in which Tyrone Power will be featured, and the life of George Sand, woman novelist, which will star the dainty Annabella.

The M-G-M radio hour, improving every week, is going to be even better, because it has been decided to concentrate more on comedy. Ted Healy, who hasn't had a chance really to distinguish himself in their pictures, has walked off with all the honors in their radio shows. All inquiries about audience reaction bring a request for more Healy specialties.

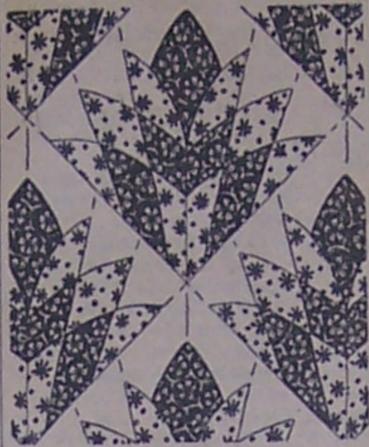

You will be getting them from now on. Soon R. K. O. will launch a radio hour with Milton Berle as master of ceremonies—probably late at night so that it won't interfere with your going to the theater to see their pictures.

When you see Carole Lombard in "Nothing Sacred," and Barbara Stanwyck in "Breakfast for Two," you may assume that a course in boxing is a necessary part of every screen actress' training. Barbara puts on gloves and goes after Herbert Marshall for all she is worth, pummeling and swinging until you begin to fear that Marshall will have to play masked bandit roles the rest of his life. Carole doesn't stop for gloves or any such niceties. She just goes into a slap-happy routine with Fredric March with no holds barred.

ODDS AND ENDS—Grand National has ambitious plans to star Tex Ritter, Ken Maynard and Ruth Mix in one big super-Western. When you hear a dog barking in the radio serial, "Pepper Young's Family," it isn't a sound-effects man at work. It is the cell-trained pet of Jean Sothorn, regular member of the cast. Charlie Farrell, encouraged by the great comeback of his former partner, Janet Gaynor, is going to try a comeback too, with Paramount. Eleanor Holm had to swim alongside two alligators in "Tarzan's Revenge." Two rifle marksmen stood by just in case. Latest actor to want Olivia de Havilland to play opposite him in a Broadway stage play is Brian Aherne, but she still says "No." Voting will begin soon for best screen performance of the year and Charles Boyer is likely to win for his portrayal of Napoleon in "Conquest." Meanwhile several radio sponsors have voted Nadine Canner, currently starring for Jeanette MacDonald Sunday nights, the best woman singer on the air.

Witty Dr. Holmes

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, the famous essayist, author and physician, father of the late justice, met a man who had devoted himself to lecturing throughout New England, without much ability for the task. In other words, he was much of a bore. "What are you about now?" asked Dr. Holmes. The answer was, "Oh, lecturing as usual. I speak at Dedham this evening." "Good," said Holmes, "I'm delighted to hear it. I never liked those Dedham people."

Adults representative of each of the schools accompanied the youngsters on Friday's trip each taking responsibility for a number of the children. Those who cooperated with Mr. Wright and his park project by taking care of a group of children on this excursion were; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sherrow and Mrs. Fred Weaver assisting Mr. and Mrs. Lester Crawl, Mr. Robert Hiland, Mr. Ellis Laybold and Miss Lorraine Lalngor with the children from the public schools, Mr. C. Zimbrick and Mr. George Feigenbaum for the ones from the Lutheran schools, Mr. Ben Kampstra and Mr. John Hulzenga with those from the Christian school.

The plan used by the Recreation project for these educational trips is to arrange through the project for free admission for the children and then require each child making the trip to pay 25 cents transportation charge.
Estimates for the number to make the trip Friday were based upon the number who attended the football game, so that arrangements were made for the admission to the arena show for about one hundred-fifty. Thus it was that with children from other communities attending the show at the same time, some of the two hundred and three youngsters were unable to see the show in the arena, but according to those who accompanied them the children enjoyed the stock exhibits and other features of the exposition to such an extent that the few who did not gain admittance to the arena show were not to greatly disappointed.

HAINES COLLECTS $132,240 SECOND INSTALL. TAXES

The increase in the dollar volume, a penalty which now amounts to 5 per cent on first installment tax payments not paid was in effect, this increases at the rate of one per cent per month.

The first installment of the 1937 taxes will probably be due about May 1, 1938, and plans are accord- ing to Mr. Haines, to again hold open office of Harvey all during the collection period with special days for each of the towns and villages in the township as is the usual custom.

The liberal payment of taxes for this year is held to be a good omen for the business prospects of the district.

tended the affair with the result that the building was well filled all during the evening and all of the so-called side shows enjoyed a full house at each performance.

The "Minstrel" show that is a regular contribution of the upper grades of the Indiana avenue school was up to all expectations, directed this year by Miss Lorraine Lalngor and Mr. Robert Hiland. The younger grades of the Indiana avenue school presented a variety performance called "Show Boat." This was arranged and directed by Miss Kingley and Miss Sidensticker.

A new feature this year was a parent play that included in the cast, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Edwards, Mrs. Howard Ward, Mr. Booth, Mrs. Carl Rahn, Mrs. Ray Krang, and Mrs. A. Ostrander.

Miss Miller presented the children from the Coolidge school in a sketch called "Fifi the Wonder Goat," and Miss Jean Henderson directed the Camp Fire Girls in a playlet entitled, "The Little Red School."

Mr. Winterhoff showed motion pictures on Ford motor cars, and the fish pond was again one of the main attractions. Mrs. Janish, Mrs. Vander An and several of the teachers supervised the pond.

Refreshments were sold from a booth arranged down the center of the gym. Mrs. Johanna Peters assisted by Mrs. Vander Werf, Mrs. J. F. Wright and Mrs. C. C. Sweatt presided here.

Merchants of the village contributed to the cause by purchasing twenty of the display booths that had been arranged around the walls of the gym.

Funds from the carnival are used by the association to purchase extra curricular equipment for both schools.

ning, Dec. 8, at the M. E. Church. As the December meeting is the annual Guest Day, the program committee presented a beautiful pageant entitled "Three Great Joys," which was enjoyed by a large crowd.

The business meeting preceded the pageant, Mrs. Oscar Peterson presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. Arthur Larson. Mrs. Virtue Barton reported that a drive would be made in the near future for McCall magazine subscriptions, and workers were appointed. Mrs. Raymond Wellman, chairman for the social committee, announced the annual Birthday party would be held Wednesday Jan. 26. The business session over Mrs. Walter Grimes read the Christmas story, followed by prayer. Mrs. Sidney Eby, chairman of the program committee, proceeded with the entertainment of the evening. The pageant with a cast of thirty-eight characters portrayed the Christmas story, while the songs told the story in words. Following adjournment refreshments were served in the basement by the following hostesses: Mrs. Fulker, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Fossett, Mrs. Grimes, Mrs. Hand, Mrs. M. Hilland and Mrs. Howmiller.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

ing supervised gymnastic, games etc. All equipment for the project such as base balls, footballs, basketballs, bats, rackets, nets checker boards, ping-pong outfits, and like sport paraphernalia is furnished by the WPA. Janitor service, repair service on the equipment as well as instructors is included in the list of things gained for the school.

All that is required of the sponsors of the project is the use of the building or room, heat and light. This the village board is doing for the new local project.

The project was first submitted to the school board who refused it a tryout in the local schools, fearing that the added expense of heat and light would be more than the finances of the school would stand.

This is one of the WPA projects that is gaining in popularity throughout the country and in many instances it has, where operated in the school gymnasiums greatly relieved the load for the teachers.

It is expected that in a few days or a week the initial schedule for the local projects will be ready. Tournaments in various sports will be promoted.

Bewitching Lace on Gala Nights

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

GIVE the glamour that every woman covets for gala nights, the answer throughout the centuries has been lace. And so it is to this very day and generation. Easily to be understood, therefore, is the fact of lace being made a theme triumphant throughout current Paris couture showings as well as in the fashion pageantry so dramatically presented nowadays by leading style creators in our country.

A most significant contemporary event that has much to do with the present enthusiasm for lace was the grand lace ball given in Chicago social season usher in the winter full occasion with real fanfare and much excitement, but the lovely fashions there presented set the pace for a "lace season."

Three models that were outstanding in this style-registering lace promenade are pictured herewith, with the thought in mind that whether you can afford to buy original models or whether you perform your needs must make your own clothes, the fact of having the best set before you proves helpful and inspirational. The woman with limited budget has every opportunity to look beautifully gowned these days (no matter how formal the function to which she may be invited) at comparatively little cost.

The present mode that voices an insistent call for formal gowns is bringing out a number of distinctly new and charming silhouettes, not the least important of which is the one with smoothly molded front lines and fullness at the back. The beautiful dress to the right in the illustration interprets the idea with ruffles starting from a deep decolletage and sweeping down fanshape to a widened hemline. The decollete at front is heart-shaped. The trimming features are all centered at the back with a sashbow of the lace to give added grace. The lace is of filmy cobweb texture in the one of the newest colors, a deep blue violet shade. The gown would be handsome done in black chintilly.

The season started with glitter and as time goes on the glitter-gleam-sparkle idea is gaining in momentum. The evening dress of silver lame lace on a white ground (center figure) does justice to the present scintillating mode. The gown is simply cut with a full skirt. The jacket of the same silver lace is detailed smartly to the nth degree with soft flaring cuffs at the elbow, and a little stiffened standup collar, plus bow. The jacket does not close completely so as to reveal the decollete gown underneath. The two-piece dinner gown to the left, created by Norman Hartnell, London dress designer, is made of white starched lace in an interesting manner which shows up effectively over the slip of black satin. The high neckline in front contrasts a decollete back which, by the way, is a silhouette much featured this season. What fullness there is centers at the peplum-back of the blouse and the slight train. A wide girdle of rhinestones and brilliants completes the costume.

FAVOR HEAD VEILS FOR EVENING WEAR

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A veil with your hat in the strictest sense is not news, although we must admit the ingenious ways that are being draped and flung picturesquely and nonchalantly about is worth telling about. However, that which is news, exciting news, lies in the veils sans hat which socialites are wearing as romantically as any senora or senorita ever draped a mantilla head and shoulder deep. It is a charming fashion that has come to us this season, that of a decorative veil caught with flower or ornament thrown over a beautifully coiffed head. There is romance and allure in this new evening headdress, especially when the veil is filmy and sparkles with glittering sequins.

WHIMS OF FASHION

Pine cones are colored to make smart boutonnières for suit lapels. Sequins, paillettes and "bugles" are being used widely on evening gowns.

Heim specializes in peasant trims of Balkan inspiration in his current collection.

Many designers are using black fox for big luxurious collars or revers on coats.

Versions of the colonial or step-in pump for evening wear are noted in the new imports.

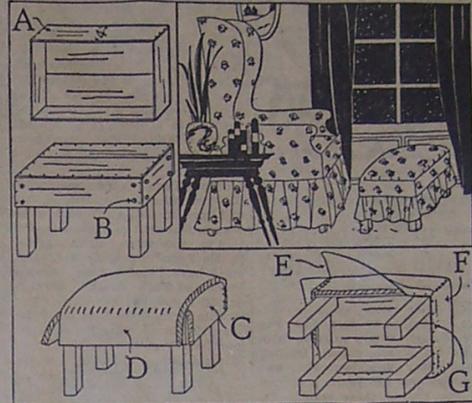

Black kidskin is dyed black to give it more luster and life, but all gray kids are kept gray.

Satin makes a number of smart blouses—simple styles for morning, long overblouses for afternoon.

Chenille caps are rivaling those of suede and contributing a dressier emphasis to youthful costumes.

Make This Attractive Ottoman.

GET a wooden box from the grocer. It should be about as long as the width of the chair with which the ottoman is to be used. The depth of the sides should be four inches as shown here at A. The legs should be made of two by two's or you may have a set of nicely turned legs from an old table or other piece of furniture that may be cut down to the right length. Fasten in place with long screws through the corners of the box as shown here at B.

About half a bat of cotton will be needed. Put five or six layers of the cotton on the top, cutting the first layer about four inches smaller all around than the top of the box. Place it in the center. Cut the next layer a little bigger and the others still bigger until the last one is the same size as the top. Now, cut a layer of cotton to go over the top and down over the ends as at C and another to go over the top and down the sides as at D.

Cut a piece of heavy muslin to fasten tightly over the cotton. Cut the corners of the muslin as at E. Sew with heavy thread as at F and then tack as at G.

To make the cover, stretch the top tightly over the muslin and sew it along the sides through the muslin, then make a straight four-inch band to go all around and add the ruffle to it. Every homemaker should have a copy of Mrs. Spears' new book, SEWING. Always Something New in This Game Known as Football

THIS game called football— From 1883 to date Yale has gone through twelve seasons with undefeated and untied football teams.

The triumphant streak which called for the most boola boolas, though, came in the early 1890s. After beating Williams, 46 to 10, in the fourth game of the 1891 season, Yale played thirty games without having its goal line crossed.

H. C. Leeds is credited with being the first player to pull the unexpected in a Yale-Harvard game. He received the Yale kickoff and promptly booted the ball back almost to the Blue goal line.

The biggest crowd ever to see a Notre Dame-Army game was the 110,000 assembled at Chicago's Soldier's Field in 1930.

Sure you know football, but—

- (1) In what year did the scoring value of a touchdown become fixed at six points? (2) What was the longest successful field goal ever kicked in an Army-Notre Dame game? (3) From what college did Gil Dobie graduate? (4) When were numbers first used on football players so as to give fans some chance of identifying them? (5) Who was captain of the Notre Dame team (1924) on which the Four Horsemen, Crowley, Layden, Stuhldreber, Miller, achieved their greatest fame? (6) West Point's colors are—? (7) Who was the first negro ever to make Walter Camp's All-America team? (8) What eastern team first lost in a Rose Bowl game? (9) Who is given credit for inventing the Reverse play? (10) Which of the two universities first competed in intercollegiate football, Columbia or Yale? Sure, you knew them all along, but here are the answers anyhow just because I've got to practice typewriting: (1) In 1912. (2) Gene Vidal of Army dropped-kicked a 50-yard goal against Notre Dame in 1916. (3) Minnesota. (4) 1915. (5) Adam Walsh, center. (6) Black, Gold and Gray. (7) William H. Lewis of Harvard in 1892 and 1893 at center. He afterwards helped with Harvard's coaching and became an Assistant United States Attorney General. (8) Brown was defeated by Washington State, 14 to 0, in 1916. (9) Pop Warner in 1911. (10) Columbia played its first game in 1870, Yale in 1872. Incidentally, Yale's first game was against the Lions and the Elis won, 3 goals to 0.

J. Triplett Haxall, who kicked the longest placement field goal on record, did it from 65 yards away and while 15 feet off from the center of the field. But it didn't affect the final decision, Yale winning that 1882 game by two touchdowns, two goals and one safety to Princeton's one goal and one safety . . . In those days, by the way, it took four touchdowns to beat a goal from the field and two safeties were equal to a touchdown. It was not until 1884 that the numerical system of scoring was established . . . During his four years at Michigan, 1901-1904, the great Willie Heston scored more than 100 touchdowns in forty-four games.

Cornell-Penn game memories: The year when Jesse Douglas, who had been on the bench most of the season, was sent in against the Big Red to score three touchdowns and enable Penn to win, 25 to 0. That must have been in 1924. George Pfann and Eddie Kaw collaborating on flip bucks and off tackle plays to whip Penn, 41 to 0, in 1921. The year, 1919 or so, when Heinie Miller intentionally pushed Cornell Captain Shiverick into a rolling punt so that Lou Little could recover for Penn on the 12 yard line. Charley Barrett, Cornell's All-America quarter, taking a terrific pounding for three quarters. Then in the final period achieving the two touchdowns which won the game.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE: FEATHERWEIGHT CHAMPION

HENRY ARMSTRONG has not lost a fight since a foul cost him the decision over Tony Chavez in 1936. This year he has had 24 fights and won 23 of them by knockouts. . . . The late Derby Dick Thompson, who saddled four winners of the Kentucky classic, did not saddle the well-backed but beaten Blue Larkspur. He was recovering from an appendicitis operation at the time. . . . Lew Raymond will promote boxing in Cleveland this winter. Although he is recovering nicely from his recent operation, National Open Golf Champion Ralph Guldahl has decided to abandon his English movie plans until next spring. . . . When pressed, Art Lane, freshman line coach, will admit that Thatcher Longstreth, cub wing, is the best end to enter Princeton since Gil Lea's day.

Clap hands for little Alfred, the only eastern college to have completed its 1937 football season unbeaten and untied. In seven games the youngsters from that seldom-heralded upstate institution rolled up 168 points to their opponents' 31. . . . Also keep an eye on Williams next year. Alumni report this season's frosh eleven could whip the varsity and that two Exeter regulars of a year ago couldn't even win starting berths on it.

Navy has decided that the old wooden stands at Annapolis, which seat only 20,000, are inadequate for home games. So something is to be done about it—Cliff Montgomery, who starred for Columbia short football seasons ago, now toils for a steamship line and looks thin enough to deserve a vacation—Ralph Hewitt, another Columbia mighty of not so long ago, says he really had only one good day, the afternoon in 1930 when he scored all the Lion's points in the 10 to 7 defeat of Cornell. The rest of his rep, he modestly claims, was build-up. A lot of people, including this corona carresser, can give Ralph plenty of argument on that, though.

Kipke Feeling Heat Over Michigan Team

In spite of Michigan's improved showing, Big Ten agents insist that Harry Kipke will be replaced as head coach next year. They say Gus Dorais of Detroit and Irv Uteritz, former Wolverine quarterback and now backfield coach at California, are being given the most consideration as his successor—Why not Benny Friedman, one of Michigan's all time greats and the fellow who has done such a swell job at C. C. N. Y.?

Lou Little

The heat also is on Harvey Harman at Penn but there is a real question as to who would be willing to be the next victim of the Quaker City grandstand quarterbacks. Lou Little's friends say he definitely refuses to leave his cushy Columbia berth no matter how loudly his alma mammy yells for him—Rutgers alumni also are keeping in style. A considerable portion of them demand Coach Wilder Tasker's scalp, win, lose or draw. . . . Max Machon is writing a book in German. Of course it will be titled "My Twelve Years With Max Schmeling."

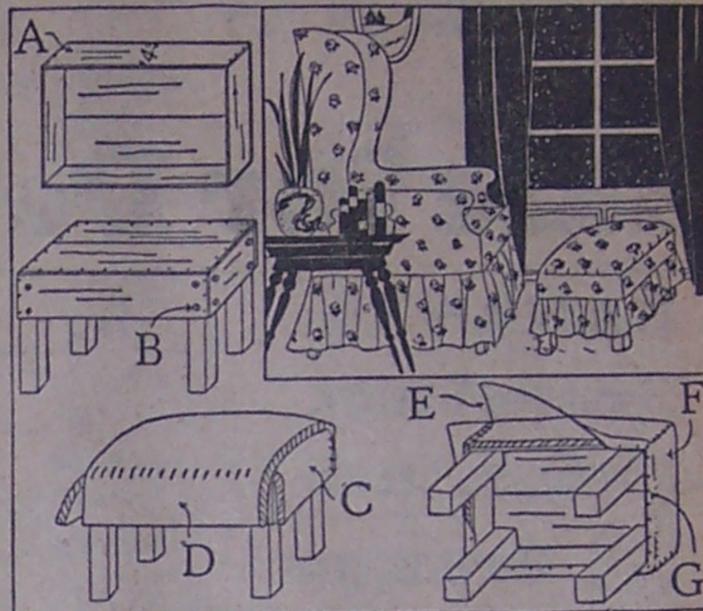

Maxie Rosenbloom, former ring celebrity, has opened a cafe in Hollywood—Frank Moran, old time heavyweight famous for his "Mary Ann" knockout punch, is general manager at Vic McLaglen's Sports stadium—Jack Clifford, former Brooklyn matchmaker, now works in the Hollywood sheriff's office—Mushy Callahan, former world's junior welterweight champion, is property man at a movie studio—Wrestling fans should like Hjalmar Lundin's new book, "On the Mat—and Off."—Another reason why the Yankees won the 1937 pennant is contained in the statistics which show Relief Pitcher Johnny Murphy and Frank Makosky won 17 games while losing 5.

Personal nomination for the country's best judge of golfers, George Low, the husky and popular young Philadelphian who never misses a tournament. . . . Dauber has a swell chance to win the Santa Anita Derby in February. That's a tip from Harry Richards, the topnotch stake rider. . . . Yale will be hard hit by graduation, losing Frank, Ewart, Hessberg and Colwell among others. But don't be surprised if the Elis turn up with another high-class football team next fall. The Frosh team went through the season unbeaten, swamping Harvard and Princeton and revealing a future varsity great named Mickey Reilly.

Barney Ross, welterweight champion, will make his home in New York after his marriage to Miss Pearl Siegel. . . . Ray King, Minnesota end whose interception of a forward pass made possible the Gophers' victory over Northwestern, was playing out of position when he grabbed the toss. . . . Bernie Bierman explained that the reason King was away from his normal position was because Northwestern several times tipped off its passes and King knew definitely when and where the pass was coming. . . . The first-string guards on the New York university freshman team are named Cohen and Kelly. . . . Louisiana State students transport their tiger mascot from game to game in an electrically lighted trailer.

Along the Concrete

OH, GEORGE DEAR--WILL YOU GET OUT THE CAR AND PICK ME UP-- I'M OVER AT MRS. QUINN'S ON THE OTHER SIDE OF TOWN--

WENT ALL THE WAY

Mrs. Gay—Where were you last night?
Mr. Gay—Sitting up with a sick friend.
Mrs. Gay—That's the limit.
Mr. Gay—No—there wasn't any.

On His Metal

"They tell me that was a wealthy girl you were flirting with this summer."
"Yes, her father made a fortune in some kind of mine."
"Copper?"
"No. Another fellow beat me out."—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Smart Aleck

"Do you mean to say that Sandy is famous for his after-dinner speaking?"
"I'll say! He always manages to be speaking on the telephone when the waiter brings the check."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Old Pal

Two friends met in the street. One of them remarked on the dirty state of the other's hands.
"Why," he exclaimed, "your hands are covered with soot."
"That's because I was down at the station seeing my wife away," replied the friend.
"But how does that affect your hands?"
"I patted the engine."

Soon Enough

"Does your little son play on the piano?"
"No, he can't climb that high yet."

FORE!

Mrs. Bunk—Winning that golf match will be quite a feather in your husband's cap.
Mrs. Fozzle—If it's a nice one I'll make him give it to me. Men shouldn't wear such fantastic millinery.

THE ANSWER

She—Next to me, what do you like best in all the world?
He—I like to be right next to you.

A True Friend

"I beg your pardon, sir. My wife wants me to help her clean house this afternoon. Would you let me have the afternoon off, sir?"
"I certainly will not."
"Thank you very much, sir. I knew I could depend on you."—U. S. S. Reina Mercedes Galleon.

And That Was Enough

"Do you spend your time with puzzles?"
"No. Only with the one I married."

The House That Jack Built

"There are exceptions to all rules, you know."
"Indeed. Where's the exception to the rule that we all must die?"
"Ah, that's the exception to the rule that all rules have their exceptions."

Father's View

"Tell me, pater, what is heredity?"
"The force, my child, that arranges that all your good traits be inherited from your mama and all your bad ones from me."—Royal Arcanum Bulletin.

YANSON USING NEW TECHNIQUE ON "O. K." CARS

Yanson Chevrolet of 1644 Chicago Road in Chicago Heights are reconditioning used cars by a new method, which entails considerable extra expense, but which enables them to put an O. K. on the cars they turn out that insures the purchaser of a car that is really O. K. The new system, as explained by Mr. Norman E. Weinmann, used manager, entails use of the Kerrick cleaning machine and other expensive equipment recently installed by the Yanson company. The Kerrick machine, it is explained, is a high-pressure cleaning device by means of which every part of the used car is subject to alkali impregnated with steam. Any imperfections in any part of the car are thus revealed.

Afterwards the car is taken to the mechanical reconditioning department, where any needed new parts are installed. Then in the upholstery department a new vacuum machine is used to wash, recondition and dry the upholstery. The next step is to spray the motor with engine enamel and to install new ignition equipment. Then the body is refinished and sponized.

All reconditioned cars are subjected to actual road tests before they are given the familiar "O. K." label, Mr. Weinmann explained. Only then are the cars sold. The reconditioning of cars is under the direct supervision of Mr. Leonard (Dutch) Johnson, long known as an expert at this work.
